

Wang Business Computers. Powerful. Efficient. Inexpensive.

It is easy to talk to the Wang 2200, the computer with a difference.

The Wang System 2200 is built for the businessman who needs an efficient low-cost answer to many kinds of problems. With the Wang 2200 you push a button, and the computer tells you what to do next, leading you step by step through invoicing, updating of inventory and of accounts receivable, and producing full detail statements and a wide range of management analyses.

Touch, see, converse.

Wang systems respond to you at the touch of a key. You converse with them in your own language through a TV-like screen. Powerful, yet simple to use, the Wang 2200 gives you the convenience of a calculator and the performance of a computer.

The engineer, the scientist, the educator will find the Wang 2200 completely interactive, with absolute simplicity of programming, editing and debugging.

Buy computer power, pay calculator price.

Pick your system 2200 with the memory size you need. Buy now what you need now, and add later what you need later. And most important, the Wang 2200 gives you computer power at the price of a programmable calculator.

You can trust us.

Wang developed the small computers and has installed thousands of them, all over the world. Wang has more than 150 offices in the U.S. and 50 foreign countries.
